Langley Knights Found

Our competition to find the missing Knights of Langley has now finished and it was a global hit. 147 teams with participants from 32 countries took part in the search, not only the UK we have countries including USA, Japan, Mexico and India.

At 9.00am on 2nd July five Knights were hidden, three real in parks around the UK and two cyber knights hidden in UK parks on Google Earth.

The object was 'first to find' each of the knights to win £1000. Bonuses were available through recruitment and teams.

The first cyber knight was found less than three hours after the competition started, with the final knight been discovered early evening on day two.

Winnings of almost £11,000 were awarded, with many teams donating their prize to various charities. A list of winners is available on LangleyKnights.com

Its been a long time..

If there is one thing you can say about Langley Castle is the staff tend to stay.

During our opening director Howard Madnick presented some of our loyal staff with long service awards, they included Deputy Manager Elaine Robinson and General Manager Anton Phillips received 25 years and 20 years respectively.

Housekeepers Lorraine and Julie also both received 15 years service.

Prefect Balance

Wednesday 6th July saw the grand opening of our new glass pavilion.

Guests were invited to a ceremony hosted by Howard and Lynn Madnick, along with Anton and his management team. Champagne and canapés were the order of the day.

The Mayor of Hexham, Councillor Robson cut the ribbon before 'x-factor' style fireworks surrounded the building.

Attached to the Josephine restaurant by a glass corridor and surrounded by a moat, the building blends into the surroundings and does not attempt to compete with the 14th century building.

The pavilion will be used to seat additional restaurant guests during busy services, with private dining space for small groups and weddings.

The multi-functional design can also be converted into two smaller rooms, ideal for small parties and conferences.

To discuss the use of the pavilion, or for an appointment to view, please contact the Castle and a member of the team will be happy to discuss your needs.
